The Honda MB5 is a 50cc, 5 speed motorcycle that was only imported into the US in 1982. It is, in fact, not a moped at all. However, it fits into moped culture due to its small displacement 2-stroke engine. Some features found on the MB5 were a speedometer, a tachometer (with a redline of 10,500 rpm), front disc brake, and Honda's Comstar wheels.
